DeWit® Flathead trowel with ash handgrip

We've designed this trowel after we worked a few days with most of our trowels. It's not always needed to use the pointed shaped of a trowel, sometimes you just want to dig a hole with a flat bottom. The straight cutting edge does the job. The edge is sharp like a razor blade and helps you digging where you want. This trowel is made in our called Welldone line, so it is part of the strongest trowel line in the entire world. A real tool that is made for using it.
